

Jesse Rhodes

Established in 1975, Jesse leverages his authentic style as a keynote speaker, panelist, moderator, personal career coach, mentor, and manager. He does this by sharing personal testimonies and work experience that provide an innate way of seeing opportunities where others do not; driving results and helping your financial bottom line, inspiring you beyond what you or your team see is achievable.

Jesse guides an array of personal development topics, from managing personal brands and critical career and financial decisions to disrupting unconscious bias and embracing diversity in the workplace. His presentations empower leaders and their teams to take action instantly, directly impacting and inspiring those around them.
